Who is SpearTip?

In military parlance, “tip of the spear” refers to the first and most meaningful action in an offensive or engagement. In this vein, SpearTip puts at the disposal of directors, chief executives, and chief legal officers, comprehensive cyber counterintelligence capabilities to confront the global threat of state-sponsored attacks and organized crime, including corporate espionage, intellectual property theft, digital fraud, and breaches of confidential data.

Almost daily there are news reports of significant cyberattacks involving some of the largest and most tech-savvy government and private enterprises. As the inevitability of cyberattack and data security compromise increases, SpearTip brings a unique combination of cyber investigation expertise and broad counterintelligence skill to the highly sophisticated and multifaceted challenge of safeguarding a company’s technological competitiveness.

SpearTip’s team members have worked closely with various government and law enforcement agencies, including the FBI, and provided technical briefings to corporate executives and board members to respond to advanced threats. The team is comprised of well-rounded professionals in diverse areas of system assessment, penetration testing, digital forensics (network and disk-based), malware reverse engineering, incident response, interrogation, and counterintelligence. SpearTip’s cyber professionals utilize combined backgrounds and abilities of technical, Human Intelligence (HUMINT), and real-world experience to protect organizations and in support of the major insurance carriers, law firms, and managed service providers (MSPs).

The SpearTip Difference

Everything SpearTip does is focused on protecting partners from cyber threats and cybercriminals who attempt to victimize their organizations.

SpearTip approaches cybersecurity differently by leveraging proven military cyber counterintelligence strategies in the delivery of engagements. Their investigative approach and fusion cell analysis go beyond simple, automated alerts or the latest technology. SpearTip’s highly technical teams dig deep into malicious activity and vulnerabilities inside partner environments in order to identify the threat actors behind the activity. If you understand your adversary, you can outmaneuver your adversary.

SpearTip provides cybersecurity consulting services. They offer a Security Operations Center as a Service (SOCaaS) working in tandem with ShadowSpear achieving the highest level of cybersecurity protection by combining 24/7, human expertise with a cutting-edge, technological response. When asked, SpearTip will recommend the latest and greatest technology, but their services always focus on the bigger picture. In order to assist their partners through several types of engagements, SpearTip provides consulting services within three main functional areas:

1. Proactive Assessments and Advisory Services
2. Managed Detection and Response with ShadowSpear
3. 24/7 Security Operations Center with Rapid Incident Response.

SpearTip’s goal is to be your security partner to help strengthen your organization and reduce your business risk.
