Introduction

Sills Cummis & Gross is a mid-size law firm headquartered on the East Coast of the United States at the New York-New Jersey gateway. The firm's attorneys have aggressively represented the interests of their national and international clients since 1971.

Sills Cummis has the capabilities of a New York full-service law firm and offers the economic benefits of a New Jersey-based headquarters, with an office in New York City.

Sills Cummis' client roster ranges from Fortune 500 to emerging growth and foreign corporations doing business in the United States.

Sills Cummis serves clients in a variety of industries, including real estate, financial services, life sciences, pharmaceutical/medical device, technology, consumer products, manufacturing, health care, fashion, apparel and textiles, and food products, among others.

International | U.S. Cross-Border

For over 35 years, Sills Cummis' multi-disciplinary team has been advising foreign based companies doing business in the U.S. in corporate and business matters, corporate governance and compliance issues, real estate, intellectual property, employment, licensing and distribution, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, finance, tax, and other matters. On the litigation side, Sills Cummis attorneys represent foreign clients in resolving disputes with U.S.-based business partners in federal and state courts (and arbitration tribunals) as well as handle class action litigation for products-related claims.
